BRITISH LOSSES HEAVY IN EGYPT, SAYS BERLIN

Germans Claim All Egypt Is in Favor of Holy War.

Berlin, November 20.—(By Wireless.) The following information was given out for the press today in official quarters:

"Advice from Rome is to the effect that in the fighting at El Arish, a fortified Egyptian town, on the Mediterranean, the British suffered heavy losses. The Italian colony in Egypt is suffering from the prostration of all lines of trade. Major General Sir John Maxwell, commander of the British forces in Egypt, declared that it was only his treaties with the allies which led England to fight against Turkey. From all sections of Egypt some reports of enthusiastic manifestations in favor of a holy war. The Sheikh-el-Islam has communicated with a majority of the Mohammedan princes of Asia and Africa, who declare they will assist Turkey in a war against England.

The London Times estimates the Russian losses in their last defeat by General von Hindenburg at 40,000 to 50,000. The Austrians captured 18 machine guns and 100,000 lbs. of food.

"The People's Home and the Preparation, Rome newspapers say that further resistance on the part of the Serbians is impossible.

Russians Standard Tones. "The information comes from the Turkish military headquarters that the fighting in Palestine is proceeding favorably. A Russian standard, four guns and many prisoners were taken. "The Turkish troops have been reinforced by Persian tribesmen. Lord Kitchener estimates the British losses at 40,000.

"Dispatches from Rome state that there is a serious agitation among the Italian people of Albanian descent, in consequence of the manifesto of the King declaring a holy war.

"Information from Durban, South Africa, is to the effect that 2,000 Boers have gathered near Bloemfontein, and that an attack on the town is feared. The Boers there are about 500.

Castle Not Damaged. "Contrary to the false French reports concerning the destruction of the castle at Compiègne by the Germans, the conservator of the castle, the well-known historian, Monro, states in the Rome paper Tribune, that no damage has been done to the castle. "He says that the Germans were very polite and that he is grateful to them.

GERMANY NOT AFRAID OF RUSSIA'S NUMBERS

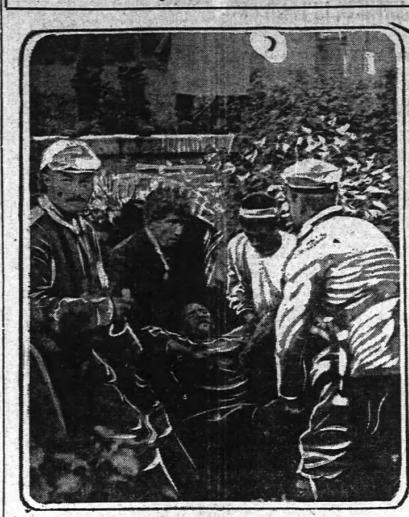

Berlin, November 20.—(Via The Hague and London.)—"The Russians have numbers on their side, but numbers alone are not the decisive factor. The London Times says that it was becoming clearer daily that England could not be defeated, and that the contrary, he believes that England already has been defeated."

"Albert Ballin, director general of the Hamburg-American Steamship company, who was quoted recently by The London Times as saying that it was becoming clearer daily that England could not be defeated, and that the contrary, he believes that England already has been defeated."

"The Russians have learned much since the Japanese war, particularly in the science of entrenching, but when the ground is frozen they will no longer be able to dig themselves in. Then they will have a bad time of it. That is one of the advantages the winter campaign will bring us.

"The Russian conduct of war is in the end the most terrible, because war is a question of nerves will snap first. The Austrians and Germans have stronger nerves, and they have them when they will be victorious."

Rescue of German Soldiers

RESCUING WOUNDED GERMAN SOLDIER FROM CULVERT.

There's a lot of human interest in this war picture. It was taken at Roulers, Belgium, not far from Dixmude, which the Germans recently captured. It shows German soldiers rescuing another from a culvert. His story is interesting. He had been wounded in fighting five days before and had crawled into the culvert to escape being captured by the Belgians. He expected his side would win a quick victory and that he would not have to remain in concealment long. But the tide of battle turned against the Germans and they retired from the town. Rather than capture him, the brave soldier remained in his hiding place for five days without food and with only a little foul water that remained in the day stream that ran through the culvert. When rescued he was more dead than alive. He received the iron cross.

SUPPLIES FOR BELGIUM WILL BE CARRIED FREE

New York, November 20.—To facilitate transportation of food and clothing for Belgian relief, all railroads of the Trunk Lines association, covering territory east of the Mississippi and north of Norfolk, Va., will transmit such supplies without charge. It was announced tonight. The commission for relief in Belgium is trying to effect a similar arrangement with lines west of the Mississippi.

The next relief ship sailing under charter of the commission will load next week at Philadelphia, taking on supplies from the northwestern states and Pennsylvania. About December 1 another ship will be dispatched from New York with a cargo of western contributions.

Mr. Herbert C. Hoover will sail next week to join her husband, chairman of the London commission, and assist him in his work. She was chairman of the American women's relief committee in London during the early days of the war.

Take the edge off the cold these days with a gas room heater. See the gas company.

In its experiments with the production of steel by electric methods the United States Steel corporation has expended more than $400,000.

The Canary Islands, last year, shipped 2,500,000 crates of bananas and 1,000,000 boxes of tomatoes to the United States.

"Here We Are, Safe and Sound"

Golliwog, Chief High Zing of the Toys

Gives Out Interesting Interview on His Arrival at His New Home.

Bids All Atlanta, Young and Old, to His First Public Appearance Saturday In the Bazaar, at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

Long live Golliwog, Chief High Zing of the Toys! He is here safe and sound, and all his followers. Today he holds public reception for the children and grown-ups of Atlanta: he wants them all to come and make merry.

He was in high spirits when interviewed: filled with the joy of living; glad to get to his new home after a wonderful trip across the Atlantic.

Golliwog a Quaint Fellow.

But to quote him—he is a merry little fellow, although chief high Zing of the whole populous toy world; very plain, with none of these high-sounding phrases that the other great kings affect—so his own words:

"Gee, it's great to be here in this big, fine city; well worth the long trip we had to get here.

"Let me tell you about it—

"You know they are shooting up everybody and everything over in Europe. The minute a boat pokes its nose out of Germany—zip, zowie, boom—good-bye!

Plans Christmas Trip.

"Well, it came along time for me to start my Christmas trip and my brave lieutenant Zia came to me and asked would we risk it.

"Sure," said I. "We must make it to Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s; think of all our little friends over there waiting for us."

The Gathering of the Clan.

"Aye, aye, Captain, your word is the law," spoke gallant Zia, and was off taking the word to all my peeples throughout Toyland to gather themselves and their belongings for the trip to Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s.

"Well, sir, first lady you never saw! Every gallant son and daughter of the land of Toys made ready at once.

"Here we are, you see, every one of us, and all our belongings, our tools, our baggage, our beds, our pets, everything. But how did we get here?"

The Flag of Santa Claus.

"Well, we set sail from Bremen. On the second day out we were all on deck having a merry time, hands were playing, the young folks dancing, when Zia, on the lookout, saw a big warship ahead. I went to the bridge.

"Hoist the flag of Santa Claus," was my first order. "Continue full speed ahead; let the hands keep playing; young folks dance on."

"Up went the flag of Santa Claus, and watching through my glasses I soon saw that the warship recognized the flag. All hands on deck seemed busy—then from the topmast mast we saw the White Flag spread to the winds.

The Wireless and the Salute.

"Soon a wireless message came: 'Ho! salute you, Golliwog, Zing of the Toys—continue your journey in peace; and as we passed their hand was playing and all hands had lined up on their port side to wave us bon voyage and Merry Christmas."

"And so it was, all during the trip, with the flag of Good Santa Claus flying, every ship we passed saluted us.

"It was a happy, happy voyage—not an accident to mar it; all were in high spirits; we had games and music and banquets and dances all the way over."

All Ready.

"Now we are here all safe and sound. Today we shall hold our first public reception—and bid all Atlanta, young and old, welcome to our new home—the Bazaar, at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s."
